

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A running model whose running ability changes in accordance with a given environment is caused to run on a field. The field includes two types of tracks (12, 13), and hence the running model runs differently on the tracks (12, 13) depending on the current running ability, thereby providing the running model with variable factors of the running ability.